

Daily Update – June 18, 2020

Briefing with Dr. Henry

In today's daily briefing, Dr. Bonnie Henry, provincial health officer, reported eight new cases of COVID-19 in B.C., bringing the total number of cases to 2,783 since the pandemic began. Of those, 950 have been in the Vancouver Coastal Health region. There are 190 active cases of COVID-19 in the province and 2,425 people who tested positive have recovered. The number of people in hospitals throughout B.C. is 10, including five people in critical care. Seven long-term and acute care facilities continue to have active outbreaks in B.C.

Surgical update

Health Minister Adrian Dix provided an update on surgical renewal in B.C. He said from June 8 to 14, 6,291 surgeries took place in B.C., including 1,336 unscheduled surgeries and 4,955 scheduled. Pre-COVID, there were approximately 6,000 surgeries a week. There have been 42,000 patient contacts, and of those, only 1,090 cited COVID as a reason for not having surgery. All surgical sites are now operating at full capacity.

Nation-wide mobile app

Earlier today, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau announced the upcoming launch of a new nation-wide mobile app to provide notifications of exposure to COVID-19 across Canada. The app will help Canadians and public health officials identify and isolate the spread of the virus more quickly, which is an important step toward containing the virus and safely restarting the economy. Use of the app will be voluntary. If someone tests positive for COVID-19, a health care provider will give them a unique temporary code, so they can upload their status anonymously to a national network. Other users who have downloaded the app and come in contact with that person will be notified, through the app, that they may have been exposed to the virus. The app will also provide users with information on steps they can take to keep themselves and others safe, and we are working with the provinces and territories so they can customize public health information based on their own jurisdiction. The app will be available to Canadians for free download in the coming weeks, with health authorities in Ontario being the first to distribute the unique, temporary codes to people who test positive for COVID-19.

Testing

Anyone in the VCH region with cold, influenza or COVID-19-like symptoms, however mild, can now be assessed for and get a COVID-19 test. Contact your physician or nurse practitioner's office, or a local community collection centre to arrange for a test. Phone numbers and locations of collection centre can be found by visiting: <http://www.bccdc.ca/health-info/diseases-conditions/covid-19/testing> or by calling 8-1-1. In Vancouver, the City Centre and REACH urgent and primary care centres can provide testing as well as the St. Vincent's drive-up location at 4875 Heather Street. The Richmond Assessment Centre is located at 6820 Gilbert Road, in the parking lot of the Richmond Tennis Club. On the North Shore, testing is available at the North Vancouver Urgent and Primary Care Centre. If you think you need testing, please call ahead before visiting your doctor, urgent and primary care center or health clinic.

VCH Medical Health Officers, our provincial partners and the Public Health Agency of Canada continue to actively monitor the COVID-19 pandemic. To protect yourself while out in public, wash your hands frequently and maintain social distance. For more information on COVID-19, please visit www.vch.ca/COVID19.
