How do I confirm if my iPhone has a data plan enabled?

If your phone previously had a voice/text only plan, and you were using Wifi, you will have to turn off Wifi to confirm if your phone’s data plan is now enabled.

On your iPhone, go to Settings, Wifi, and toggle the Wifi button to Off if it is currently on (on=green, off=white):

Once you have disabled Wifi, you should now be able to see in the top left corner of the iPhone screen whether your phone is now connected to a cellular data network. It will display the name of the carrier (TELUS) and either 3G, 4G, or LTE:
If you do not see either 3G, 4G, or LTE displayed, you may need to enable the cellular data network in Settings.

Go to Settings, Cellular, and ensure the Cellular Data button is enabled (green):